

SCHOOL OF HUMANITIES, ARTS AND SCIENCES

The St. Catherine University School of Humanities, Arts, and Sciences offers a comprehensive approach to the liberal arts, providing an extensive range of interdisciplinary degrees rooted in creative thinking and problem-solving that is amplified through global understanding. We welcome all students seeking to become career-ready professionals and thought leaders with a breadth and depth of study built on a social justice foundation. Our model of learning is inspired by a legacy of women leaders — preparing each student to innovate and impact lives and careers.

We honor a legacy shaped by the Sisters of St. Joseph. Our students become part of a learning community of strong, future-focused women who embody a spirit of inclusion and impact the world around them. As critical thinkers and ethical decision-makers, our students champion what's good and just. Our distinct formula of learning deepens engagement with the greater community — both in work and in life. We design learning experiences that prepare students for meaningful lives and successful careers. By offering wide-ranging courses of study, we prepare well-rounded students for promising careers in a variety of fields. Liberal arts is foundational to education and essential to career pursuits. By combining these principles with specialized applied learning, we inspire students with life-enhancing experiences and prepare them for meaningful life and professional opportunities.
