

ACADEMIC PROBATION, SUSPENSION, AND DISMISSAL

To advance from one term to the next, students are required to show satisfactory academic performance to meet requirements of their program with the University. Academic standing and eligibility for progression are evaluated every semester.

The University has developed minimum standards for academic standing progression. Standards within programs may be more stringent. Students are responsible for knowing the standards for the program in which they are enrolled.